Martha (Bayes) MIKESELL

Martha was the second child of Thomas and Catharine (Haley) BAYES. She was born in 1843. Her early life was spent in Holmes County, Ohio. Around the year 1846 she came with her parents to live in Fulton County.

Among the neighbors of the Bayes family were the Mikesells. So at the age of twenty-two Martha married a young man who had at the age of seventeen enlisted in Co. K the 38th Ohio Volunteer Infantry Regiment. The twenty-three year old Stillman Mikesell had spent three years, ten months and twelve days wearing the blue uniform in the great War of the Rebellion. During this time Company K along with the Regiment were called upon to undergo a long and severe march in April 1865 from Raleigh North Carolina to Washington, D.C. then thence to Richmond, VA. Previous to this Stillman had been hit with a gun in the upper left side of his chest and while on the march he became seriously afflicted with an abscess which broke. He suffered and became very weak on the march and continued to suffer from the abscess and rheumatism until he was mustered out on July 12, 1865. With his honorable discharge in his hand, Pvt. Stillman Mikesell returned to Fulton County, Ohio. Eight months later on Mar. the fourth 1866 he married Martha A. Bayes. The wedding took place in Defiance County and William Rath, ESQ. officiated. They made their home on a farm near Wauseon and with the exception of about five years which they spent in Defiance County, both lived out their lives there.

Martha (Hayes) MIKESELL

Martha was the second child of Thomas and Catharine (Haley) HAYES. She was born in 1843. Her early life was spent in Holmes County, Ohio. Around the year 1866 she came with her parents to live in Fulton County.

Among the neighbors of the Hayes family were the Mikesells. So at the age of twenty-two Martha married a young man who had at the age of seventeen enlisted in Co. Stillman Mikesell returned to Fulton County, Ohio. Eight months later on Mar. the fourth 1866 he married Martha A. Hayes. The wedding took place in Defiance County and William Bath, Esq. officiated. They made their home on a farm near Wauseon and with the exception of about five years which they spent in Defiance County, both lived out their lives there.

Their first child fondly called Hattie was born on Jan. 2, 1867. and named Hester E. after her maternal grandmother. She was not to have a long life but died at the early age of twenty-two years, two months and five days on 7 Mar. 1889.

Her brother Charles D. was born on the 24th of Mar. 1870 and died 16 Aug. 1872, not quite two and a half years old. The following year, 1873 Edwin E. was born on the 15th of Sept.; George W. on the 22 day of Feb. 1875 and Franklin O. on the 13th of Oct. 1879. Again a little one was in the family only a short time. Franklin died on the 29th of Oct. 1881. The last of their children, Vara Grace, was born Aug. 26, 1883. Grace was only fifteen years old when her mother became ill with pneumonia and died on the 22nd of Feb. 1899.

It wasn't until Dec. 4, 1901 that Stillman married his second wife, Mary R. Gilmore, in Gibson County, Ind. They were married by Rev. Thomas G. Coelas. This was her first marriage. They made their home in Fulton County.

Stillman suffered most of his life from rheumatism and the effects of the wound in his side. The United States Government recognized his service to his country in the Civil War and granted him a pension.

At the age of seventy-eight Stillman died of apoplexy on the 3rd day of June 1923.

His parents were Thomas and Margarite (Pirkerton) Mikesell.

Roena Bayes:

I have been reviewing some past correspondence and find that I have no record of answering your last letter of some three years ago concerning questions on Stillman and Martha Mikesell.

One question was if there are records of the earliest burials for the Bayes and Mikesell cemeteries. No, not to my knowledge. We (the Fulton County Chapter, Ohio Genealogical Society) completed recording all of the Fulton County grave markers some two years ago. We checked during that time and found no records for the Mikesell Cemetery and none for the early burials at the Bayes Cemetery.

Another question was are there sextons for those cemeteries or are they county controlled. Both of these cemeteries are under the control of the Township.

I was not able to determine where Stillman and Martha Mikesell are buried. Neither of their names are found in any of the county cemeteries. It is possible that their burial was unmarked - or that they are buried out of county.

I have not found information about children for Stillman and Martha.

In your letter you sent some Mikesell/Bayes family information so that I would not duplicate what you had already found. I note that some of the dates were not complete and even though it may be a duplication of what you have I am including some names and dates obtained during our recording of the cemetery inscriptions.

Note: I recorded the markers in these two cemeteries and as you know the stones are eroded and difficult to read. An attempt was made to be as accurate as possible but it is possible that some of the readings are in error.

If there are any other recordings from these cemeteries that you should want let me know and I'll check our listings.

You mentioned in your letter that you have copies of the information contained in the various Fulton County Histories therefore I assume you have all of the information from the 1905 Mikesell Fulton County History and will not repeat any of it in this letter.

I was unable to locate anyone working on this line but since it has been some time since I checked will do so again if you desire.

Have you made queried through the Ohio Genealogical Society or the Fulton County Chapter?

One more question - do you think it possible that Stillman and Martha Mikesell moved to another county or State?

Hope that your search these past years has been successful.

Sincerely,

Ed

marriage Frank C. was the third in order of birth. Horace A. is a successful lawyer in the city of Toledo; James Eugene is the present auditor of Fulton county; and Minnie is the wife of William Biddle, residing on the old Merrill homestead, which was also the Vaughan homestead. Frank C. Merrill passed his boyhood days on the home farm, and after duly taking advantage of the local school privileges he continued his studies in the graded schools at Wauseon. After leaving school he resumed his connection with the agricultural industry, with which he has ever since been prominently identified, save for a period of three years, during which he conducted a general store in the village of Ai. He inherited one hundred and thirteen acres, to which he later added by the purchase of a contiguous tract of fifty-six acres, his farm being one of the best-improved and best-managed in the township of Fulton. Mr. Merrill has always affiliated with the Republican party, and has been a zealous worker in its ranks, usually attending the county conventions and at all times showing a public-spirited concern in local affairs. He has previously been called upon to serve as township trustee, to which office he was again elected in 1904. His honored father was likewise prominent and influential in local matters, and for a period of six years, from 1865, he held the office of county auditor, and he was also a member of the State constitutional convention of 1873, a stanch supporter of the Union during the Civil war and he was an ardent Republican from the time of the organization of the party until the time of his death. His remains were laid to rest beside those of his first wife, in the cemetery at Ai. Frank C. Merrill is a member of Swanton Lodge, No. 555, Free and Accepted Masons, and with Berry Grange, No. 1111, at Ai. In 1882 Mr. Merrill was united in marriage to Miss Etta Nobbs, a daughter of James H. and Anna (Fetterman) Nobbs, representatives of prominent pioneer families of Fulton county, where Mrs. Merrill was born and reared. Her paternal lineage is of English and her maternal of German extraction. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill have seven children: Herma, Clayton, Florence, Roy, Lucy, Koryl, and Mildred. Herma is now the wife of William Walters, and they reside on a farm adjoining that of her father. Mr. Walters is a son of Orlando Walters, mentioned elsewhere in this publication.

THOMAS MIKESELL, an honored citizen and retired farmer of Wauseon, is a representative of old and prominent families of Fulton county, and it is fortunate that in this work it is possible to enter a concise genealogical record, in addition to touching the more salient points in his individual career. George Mikesell was the grandson of a German immigrant who settled in northern Maryland early in the eighteenth century. George Mikesell was born near Cumberland, that State, December 15, 1776, and he resided in that locality until he was about twenty years of age, when he removed to the vicinity of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and a few years later took up his abode in Somerset county, that State. There, about 1794, he married Mary Bayes, daughter of Stephen Bayes, her birth having occurred April 28, 1773. This worthy couple became the parents of eight sons and four daughters. In the autumn of the year 1839 George Mikesell came with his family to Ohio and located in Holmes county, and in September, 1837, he came to what is now Clinton township, Fulton county, where he passed the remainder of his life. He was a stone and brick-mason by trade, and followed this vocation until he was well-advanced in years. In the spring of 1838 he put up a small kiln of brick, and with the product from the same he built a substantial fireplace and chimney for his log house, the brick thus manufactured having been the first made in Clinton township, and perhaps the first in the county. George Mikesell died October 9, 1840, and just one week later his devoted wife followed him to the life eternal. Both were consistent members of the Methodist Episcopal church. William Mikesell, son of George and Mary (Bayes) Mikesell, was born in Somerset county, Pennsylvania, January 16, 1810, and he was there reared and educated, remaining on the farm until he had attained the age of twenty years. In 1830 he accompanied his parents on their removal to Holmes county, Ohio, where he rented land and engaged in farming. In 1832 he went to visit his old home in Pennsylvania, and when he returned the great flood of the Ohio river was on, the steamboats being enabled to run through the streets of Steubenville, Ohio. He was taken across the river in a rowboat, the river being at that time about four miles wide at the crossing point. May 23, 1833, he married Margaret Bayes, who was born June 4, 1811, being a daughter of Thomas Bayes, and she died December 4, 1855. They became the parents of two sons and one daughter. In 1836 William Mikesell, in company with his brother-in-law, Thomas Bayes, Jr., came to the wilderness of what is now Fulton county, and they made entry of fourteen eighty-acre tracts of land, for themselves and certain friends, traveling about much of the time on foot, as they had only one horse, which they rode alternately. In April, 1837, William Mikesell came with his family to their new home, making the trip with an ox team. Their embryonic farm was located in Section 14, Township 7 north, Range six east. The roads were so deep with mud that the trip from Holmes county consumed about three weeks, and they arrived on the last day of the month mentioned. Their little log cabin was erected in a few days' time, and that first spring Mr. Mikesell cleared two acres of his land and planted the same with corn, securing a fair yield. By fall he had cleared five more acres, which he sowed to wheat, securing a goodly crop, having brought sufficient flour with him to last until he could raise grain for further supplies. Deer, wild turkeys, pigeons, etc., were plentiful, and there was never a scarcity of meat in the family larder, for he was a successful hunter. Wild honey was readily secured and a supply was always kept in the house, and wild fruits also offered a valued contribution to the fare of the pioneers. The market town for this locality was Maumee City, which was twenty-six miles distant in a straight line, but which was many miles farther in actual travel, as the primitive roads wound about on the higher ground. Grain had to be hauled to that town to be sold or ground for family use. Mr. Mikesell also sold many deer hams, as well as the skins of deer, mink and coon, and in 1840 he paid the entire purchase price of a horse through his sale of such commodities. He continued the reclamation of his farm and was prospered in his labors. He never held public office except that he served one term as justice of the peace and two terms as township treasurer. His actual attendance in school covered a period of only six months, and yet he gained a fair education and was well-informed and possessed of mature judgment. He and his wife were converted soon after their marriage, and they ever afterward continued faithful and devout members of the Methodist Episcopal church, and their little home in the wilds of Fulton county was the stopping place of the early-day circuit riders of the church and was the place for holding the services. They were among the first members of the class which developed into the society which comprises the Methodist Episcopal church in Wauseon. Although it was the common custom in the early days to use whiskey freely at the harvest season and in the raising of buildings, Mr. Mikesell never used it or furnished it to others. Notwithstanding his attitude in this respect he never had difficulty in securing help in his farm work. He was an official in his church for many years, thus continuing until within a few years of his death, which occurred July 13, 1883. His first wife died in 1855, as has already been noted, and in the following year he married Mrs. Catharine (Pfouts) Bayes, widow of Meek Bayes, and they became the parents of one son, David, who is now a resident of Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. Catharine Mikesell died December 26, 1869. Of the children of the first marriage the daughter died in infancy. John, born July 12, 1837, grew to manhood on the home farm, and in April, 1861, he enlisted in the Fourteenth Ohio volunteer infantry, for a term of three months, serving in West Virginia and receiving his discharge in August, 1861. He re-enlisted, becoming a member of the Sixty-eighth Ohio volunteer infantry, in which he rose to the position of fife major, serving with this command until after the battle of Fort Donelson, when, through exposure in the storms of February, 1862, he contracted pneumonia, from which he died, on the 12th of March. The other son, Thomas Mikesell, figures as the immediate subject of this review and is duly mentioned later on in this context. William Mikesell continued to reside on the old homestead farm until his death. He was nearly six feet in height, weighing more than two hundred pounds, and was possessed of great strength. He was genial and kindly, tolerant in his judgment, and ever tried to avoid trouble with his neighbors and all others with whom he came in contact in any of the relations of life. Thomas Bayes was born April 30, 1775, in Somerset county, Pennsylvania, and he died, in Fulton county, Ohio, September 2, 1850. He was a son of Stephen Bayes, of English and Scotch descent. About 1797 he married Ann McMillen, who was born March 31, 1776, and they became the parents of six sons and three daughters. About 1820, in company with his family, Mr. Bayes removed from the old Keystone State to Holmes county, Ohio, where he bought a farm, upon which he lived until 1837, his wife having died in 1836. He then sold his farm, and in September, 1837, with a large company of relatives, came to Clinton township, Fulton county, this section then being a part of Lucas county, and here he passed the residue of his life. He was a blacksmith by trade, and for a number of years had a shop in this county. He was the first justice of the peace in Clinton township, which was organized in 1838. He was a man of more than ordinary ability, served the public in different capacities, and he was an especial friend of the poor. He was an active Christian from young manhood, being a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church, in whose faith he passed to his final reward. He was always found doing good, ever counseling the adjusting of difficulties between his neighbors without recourse to law, and he was humanity's friend at all times, ever holding the respect and confidence of all who knew him. Margaret (Bayes) Mikesell, daughter of the honored pioneer just mentioned, was born in Somerset county, Pennsylvania, June 4, 1811, and accompanied her parents on their removal to Holmes county, Ohio, where on the 23d of May, 1833, she was united in marriage to William Mikesell. She proved a faithful helpmeet, a kind and loving mother, and was a gentle and faithful Christian. She knew the trials, labors and hardships of pioneer life, but hers was the faith that made faithful in all things and her life was one of signal purity and grace. Her health began to fail about 1851, and after much suffering from cancer she passed away on the 4th of December, 1855. Thomas Mikesell, son of William and Margaret (Bayes) Mikesell, was born on the homestead farm, one mile north of the present city of Wauseon, on the 9th of August, 1845, and this farm continued to be his home until 1902, when he sold the property and removed to Wauseon, where he has since lived practically retired. He attended the district school until he was thirteen years old, and thereafter he found amplified advantages in the high school at Wauseon, attending the same during several winter terms, assisting in the work of the farm during the summer months. In June, 1863, Mr. Mikesell enlisted in Company H, Eighty-sixth Ohio volunteer infantry, for a term of six months, serving until February 10, 1864, when he received his honorable discharge. His command assisted in the pursuit of Morgan during his historic raid through Ohio, in July, 1863, and in the expedition, under General DeCourcey, which resulted in the capture of Cumberland Gap, Kentucky, September 9, 1863. Within his term Mr. Mikesell was detailed and served as fifer of his company. He taught school in his home district during the winter of 1866-7, and the next winter was similarly engaged in Kosciusko county, Indiana. In the autumn of 1868 he went to Jasper county, Iowa, where he taught school that winter, after which he taught a three months' summer school in Sullivan county, Missouri. Returning to the old homestead in the autumn of 1869, he worked on the farm and also taught school during the ensuing two winters. In 1872 he was identified with the operation of a photographic business in Wauseon, after which he returned to the farm. In 1865 Mr. Mikesell began the study of meteorology, and since November, 1869,

EARLY PIONEER METHODISTS

Rev. Uriah Spencer had been in a ministerial charge in the state of New York. Because of throat trouble he had to give up the regular ministry. In 1835 or 36, probably the latter he came to Ohio and located three or four miles north and east of Wauseon on Section 17 on York Center Road, York township. Occasionally he preached. He is known to have held religious services in the log cabin of Elisha Huntington, Oct. 1836. Elisha Huntington was probably the first man with his family to have entered Clinton township, the date of entry being March, 1836—Standard History Fulton County, Ohio, 1920, pp. 384, 390, 238-39.—Aldrich History 1888, p. 464.

Uriah Spencer remained in this section of the county in his country home, until about 1840. Later he was elected Auditor of Lucas Co., and moved to Maumee City. He married Mary Mikesell, widow of Mr. Case. They had 11 children. Son William married Emma Donaldson, daughter of James Donaldson.—History Central Ohio Conference, pps. 268-271. Lucas County included all this territory then.;—Mikesell's History, 1905, pps. 448-206.

Thomas Bayes, Sr., son of Stephen, of English and Scotch descent, was born in Somerset, Co., Pa., April 30, 1775 and died in Fulton County, Sept. 2, 1850. About 1797 he married Ann McMillen, who was born March 31, 1776. They had six sons and three daughters. About 1820 this family moved to Holmes Co., O., where they lived on a farm until 1837, his wife having died 1836. In 1837 Thomas Bayes, Sr., came to what is now Fulton Co., O. He was a blacksmith and the first Justice of the Peace in Clinton Twp., organized in 1838. He was of more than ordinary ability and was a devoted Christian and a member of the Methodist Church when he passed to his reward. Thomas Bayes Sr., was always fond of doing good, ever holding the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He and his sons William and Meek and their families all settled in one neighborhood, section 22, one mile west of Wauseon. Buried in Bayes cemetery.

William W. Bayes (1809-1885) came in 1838, some say 1837. His log cabin was the home of the pioneer preacher. In 1830 Census of Paint Township, Holmes County, Ohio, Thomas Bayes, Sr. (1775-1850) is listed neighbor to John Bayes and John Bayes, Jr. Near him is James Bayes. Also in same twp., is listed Isaac Tedrow, whose daughter Mary married Wm. W. Bayes, son of Thomas Bayes Sr.

George Mikesell (1766-1840) was born near Cumberland, Md.; removed to vicinity of Harrisburg, Pa., when about 21 years old. Later he lived in Somerset Co., Pa., before locating in Holmes Co., O., 1830, from which place he came to what is now the vicinity of Wauseon, in 1837. He was buried in the Mikesell cemetery just west of town on the north side of the road, having died Oct. 9, 1840. He was a stone and brick mason and in spring of 1838, put up a small brick kiln and manufactured the first brick made in Clinton township. With same he built a substantial fire-place and chimney for his cabin.

Mary (Bayes) Mikesell April 28, (1773-1840), daughter of Stephen Bayes and sister of Thomas Bayes, Sr., (1775-1850) was married to George Mikesell about 1794. Both she and her husband "were consistent members of the Methodist church."

George Mikesell was a grandson of a German immigrant who settled in Northern Maryland early in the eighteenth century.—Mikesell's History Fulton Co. 1905, p. 449.

Thomas Bayes, Jr., and wife Lamenta worshiped in Bayes church north and west of Delta, where they lived until 1853. The second church of Delta was built just north of the first church on the farm of Thomas Bayes, Jr. and called Bayes appointment.—Standard History Fulton Co., 1920, p. 398, Vol. 1.

William Mikesell and wife Margaret Bayes were among the first members of the class which developed into the society which comprises the Methodist Episcopal Church of Wauseon.

Thomas Bayes, Jr. (1806-1889) was born Somerset Co., Pa., and died in Fulton Co., O. He was buried in the Bayes cemetery, north and west of town.

With the father's family, young Thomas moved from Pa., to Holmes Co., Ohio. In 1831, he and his sweetheart were happily converted under the ministry of that remarkable preacher of the Northwest territory, the Rev. Henry O. Sheldon. Three years later Thomas Bayes Jr. (1806-1889) and Lamenta Swan (1815-1905) were married. Coming to Fulton Co., O., they settled near Delta. About the year 1853 they came to Wauseon, living on what is now Vine St., near Leggett St. Mr. Bayes sold the 160 acres of land which comprised what is known in the records of the county as the original plat of Wauseon. Their last days were spent on the farm where Mr. and Mrs. Glaze now live on the Chicago Pike. SEE ALDRICH HIST., 1888, p 421.

Thomas Bayes Jr. was trustee of the Methodist church under Rev. N. B. C. Love. Sept. 20, 1873, he was elected president of the board of trustees. March 30, 1874 he voted against the resolution to let the contract for the new church, but later pulled with the minority for the success of the project.

March 8, 1879. Resignation of Mr. Bayes. "To the Quarterly Conference of the Wauseon M. E. Church, greetings: Owing to my feeble health and inability to meet with the Board of Trustees of said church, I respectfully resign my position of Trustee of said church, hoping you will grant my request, I am as ever your Brother in Christ, Wauseon, Ohio".

The Conference in deep sympathy with Brother Bayes, reluctantly accepted said resignation and appointed in due form, D. Ritzenthaler to fill the vacancy thus made.

Lamenta (Swan) Bayes was born in Westmoreland Co., Pa., Feb. 11, 1815 and died near Wauseon, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1905, age 90 years, 5 months and 7 days; burial Bayes cemetery. She was the youngest of thirteen children. When she was but one year old her parents moved with their family to Wayne Co. O. Here Lamenta lived until grown to young womanhood. Nov. 6, 1834, she married Thomas Bayes Jr. (1806-1889), founding a true Christian home. In 1837 they came to Fulton Co., O., and settled near Delta, O. In 1853 they came to Wauseon, when it was little more that a clearing cut out of the heart of the forest, with a few humble dwellings, which sheltered the sturdy pioneers who laid the foundations of the present beautiful county-seat and redeemed the rich lands surrounding it from the bonds of the wilderness. In this sacrifice and toil, none did more nobly than Thomas and Lamenta Bayes to bequeath to the generations now occupying them the rich lands and beautiful city. Soon a Methodist church was founded in Wauseon and Thomas and Lamenta Bayes were among the earliest communicants. In their work of subduing the wilderness, they were he has kept a systematic record of the weather conditions. In October, 1882, when the Ohio Meteorological Bureau was organized, he was appointed one of the observers, and has ever since continued to make reports to Columbus and Washington. In 1902 he was appointed special observer of the corn and wheat region service, and has reported by telegraph each day, from April 1st to September 30th, each year. In connection with the weather observations he has made phrenological observations for many years, these records being very interesting as showing the effect of climate on vegetable growth. In 1875 Mr. Mikesell began the systematic study of the birds of this region, and since 1883 he has kept a record of their habits and of the dates of arrival and departure of the migratory species, and of the relative numbers each year. A summary and discussion of these observations, by Professor J. Warren Smith, was published in 1904 by the United States Weather Bureau. In 1887 Mr. Mikesell was elected secretary of the Fulton County Pioneer and Historical Association, serving in that capacity until 1895, and he has taken much interest in preserving the early historical data of the county. In 1889 he was chosen secretary of the Fulton County Agricultural Society, retaining this incumbency sixteen consecutive years. He has seen the county fair grow from a representation of about fourteen hundred and fifty entries, in 1889, to more than thirty-three hundred, in 1904, and the amount of premiums paid from less than seven hundred to more than twenty-five hundred dollars. In politics Mr. Mikesell is a Republican, he is affiliated with the Grand Army of the Republic, and both he and his wife are zealous and valued members of the Methodist Episcopal church, in which he has been an official since 1887, having been secretary of the official board of the Wauseon church from that year to the present, and he has been treasurer of the board of stewards since 1894. It may be said that in his special studies and observations his purpose has been to increase the sum total of knowledge concerning nature and natural phenomena. November 23, 1873, Mr. Mikesell was united in marriage to Miss Martha Herriman, who was born near Ottokee, Fulton county, Ohio, April 21, 1850, being a daughter of John and Lettie (Wood) Herriman. She was about six years of age at the time of her mother's death, and was reared in the home of Thomas J. Case. There have not been any children born to this marriage.

Dear Judge Mikesell.

~~His~~ My Name is Mildred Bayes Alspaugh and my cousin Roena Bayes has been making extensive investigation into the Bayes Genealogy.

Our Great Grandfather was Thomas Bayes and he had three children, James, my Grandfather, William, Roena's Grandfather and a daughter Martha.

Martha married a Stillman Mikesell on March 4, 18~~6~~ in Defiance County, Ohio. He lived at Wauseon, Fulton County, Ohio.

They had three living children, Edwin E. Mikesell born Sept. 15, 1873, George W. Mikesell, born Feb. 22, 1875 Vava Grace Mikesell, born Aug. 26, 1883. Martha died Feb. 22nd, 1899 at ~~Was~~ Wauseon, Ohio, of Pneumonia.

Stillman married again on December 4, 1901 to Mary B. Gilmore Stillman died at Seventy-eight at Wauseon, Fulton County, Ohio.

His Father was Thomas Mikesell and Mother Margorete Perkerton. (Pinkerton) RO

Martha and Stillman also had three other children.

Hester E. born Jan. 2, 1867, died March 7, 1889

Charles D. born March 24, 1870, died Aug. 16, 1872.

Franklin O., born Oct. 13, 1879 died Oct. 29, 1881

It seems odd I have a son Jack born January 2, 1941 and a son Carl born Oct. 13, 1938.

I would greatly appreciate as would my cousin Roena if you would let me know ib you are a decendent of Stillman and Martha's or even if your not.

I have certified copies of this information.

Hoping to hear from you.

Sincerely

Mrs. Mildred Alspaugh

Samuel KEPLER, early pioneer
"Another pioneer gone. On Tuesday morning last, at his residence in Richland township, Samuel KEPLER died in the 80th year of his age. Mr. Kepler, in 1822, entered on the farm on which he has since resided, endured all the privations of the frontier life, labored diligently in improving his farm and developing the country, raised a large family of children, accumulated a competency and lived to an advanced age. A large concourse of people attended his funeral on Wednesday."
December 21, 1872
Samuel KEPLER
"Samuel Kepler was born in Bedford County, in the town of Bedord, Penn., on the 3d of March, 1793, and died December 10, 1872, aged 79 years 9 months and 7 days. At an early day, his father sold out and moved West, settling in Ohio, on the Scioto river in Franklin county, where he bought quite a large tract of land in and around where Columbus now stands. In a short time after his arrival, he took sick and died; their goods swept away, where they were stowed, by a flood; their stock sickened and died; and one calamity befell them after another until they became poor. Then they removed to Delaware County, Ohio. Notwithstanding all their afflictions, the widow and her helpless orphans struggled on, enduring all the hardships of an early pioneer's life. The deceased staid and cared for his mother and family until he seen them comfortably situated. At the age of 28, he left he parental roof to do for himself. Penniless, he started out to battle with the world. In 1821, he came to the Maumee Valley and entered a small tract of land four miles east of Fort Defiance. December 2d, 1827, he was united in marriage to Miss Rachel McKINNIS of Hancock county, Ohio, being the first white couple ever married in that county. In two weeks after their marriage, they moved to their new home; there being a few scattered whites and wild Indians of the forest their only neighbors. Through trials and hardships, they have shared each others joys and sorrows for forty-nine years. Their family consisted of two sons and six daughters, all of whom they raised to woman and manhood. The youngest son poured out his lifeblood upon his country's altar in our late war. By the hand of Providence, the rest of his children were permitted to follow his remains to their last resting place. He died of pneumonia. Though sick but a few days, he suffered much. A short time before he breathed his last, he became calm and peaceful. His last words were prayer, and I trust, fell asleep in the arms of Jesus."

Charles SPEAKER
"Charles Speaker, one of the Commissioners of Defiance county, died at his residence in Delaware Township, on Friday morning last, of typhoid fever, after a short illness, aged 53 years, _? months, and 10 days. The deceased was born in the city of Offenburg, Baden, June 10th, 1819, and emigrated to this country in 1832, locating with his father's family in Brunersburg in this county. Since which time he has been closely identified with the improvement and prosperity of the county. A man of industry, of probity, of far-seeing views, liberal and public-spirited, he possessed in an eminent degree the confidence and respect of his fellow citizens. He had served as Commissioner of the county fo rone year, and at the October election, his office was renewed by election. His official conduct fuully warranted the confidence reposed in him by his friends. He leaves a widow and four children to mourn his loss. His funeral took place on Sunday at Brunersburg which was largely attended, notwithstanding the great severity of the weather. After a sermon by Rev. Mr. READE of Defiance, he was interred with the ceremonies of the Masonic order, of which he was a useful member

"Cataloging" 3-D Items & Heirlooms by Dawne Slater-Putt
Many of the objects in our home are heirlooms - they were passed down to us from someone else. Others have a story or an anecdote associated with them that has become part of our family's oral history. As genealogists, we organize our paper files; but when we are gone who will know that the sugar bowl in the cupboard belonged to Great Grandma Mattie, or which child made the clay handprint in kindergarten? And who will know why a particular wine cork was saved? This talk will discuss ways of recording information about three-dimensional objects so that future generations can enjoy not just the objects, but the history and special stories that go along with them.

Sayings Generated from the History of the1500s

Baths consisted of a big tub filled with hot water. The man of the house had the privilege of the nice clean water, then all the other sons and men, then the women and finally the children. Last of all the babies. By then the water was so dirty you could actually lose someone in it. Hence the saying, "Don't throw the baby out with the Bath water!"

Houses had thatched roofs-thick straw-piled high, with no wood underneath. It was the only place for animals to get warm, so all the cats and other small animals (mice, bugs) lived in the roof. When it rained it became slippery and sometimes the animals would slip and fall off the roof. Hence the saying "It's raining cats and dogs."

The floor was dirt. Only the wealthy had something other than dirt. Hence the saying, "Dirt poor." The wealthy had slate floors that would get slippery in the winter when wet, so they spread thresh (straw) on floor to help keep their footing. As the winter wore on, they added more thresh until, when you opened the door, it would all start slipping outside. A piece of wood was placed in the entrance-way. Hence: a thresh hold.

In those old days, they cooked in the kitchen with a big kettle that always hung over the fire... Every day they lit the fire and added things to the pot. They ate mostly vegetables and did not get much meat. They would eat the stew for dinner, leaving leftovers in the pot to get cold overnight and then start over the next day Sometimes stew had food in it that had been there for quite a while. Hence the rhyme:

Peas porridge hot, peas porridge cold, peas porridge in the pot nine days old.

made them feel quite special.

Yes

Come to Wasueon and go north by WalMart (Co Rd 14) to Ottokee. Ottokee is at interesection of Co Rd 14 and Co Rd J. Turn right on Co Rd J. and go about 3 & a half miles to Co Rd 10-2. Turn left on Co Rd 10-2 and go about 2 & a quarter miles to Winameg Cemetery, which will be on the right side just a little ways past Co Rd L. You will go right through what remains of Winameg, some homes. old school, Grange hall, church etc. Cemetery is right along the troad and has several entrance drives.

Margaret (Bayes) Mikesell 1811-1855

Margaret (Bayes) Mikesell was born in 1811, daughter of Thomas Bayes (1775-1850) and Anne McMillen of PA. She grew up in Somerset Co., and came with her parents in about 1820 to Holmes Co., OH. On May 23, 1833 Margaret married William Mikesell. He too was born and reared in Somerset Co., PA. William was born Jan. 16, 1810, the son of George and Mary (Bayes) Mikesell. They had two son and one daughter. In 1836 William an his brother-in-law Thomas Bayes, Jr. came to the wilderness of what is now Fulton Co., OH and they made entryof fourteen 80 acre tracts of land for themselves and certain friends. In 1837 William and Margaret and their family came to their new home, section 14, north of John Linfoot. They were faithful and devout members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and their little home was the place for holding the services. They were the among the first members of the class which developed into thesociety which comprised the Methodist Episcopal Church of Wauseon. He was an official of the church for many years, thus continuing until a few years of his death which occurred July 13, 1883, aged 73years, 5 months and 21 days. His wife Margaret died of cancer Dec. 4, 1855. After her death William married a second time to Catherine (Pfouts) Bayes, widow of Meek Bayes in 1856. They became the parents of David Mikesell. Catherine died Dec. 26, 1869, and is buried in the Bayes Cemetery.

G. M. Barber.
Probate Judge.

The Will of Thomas Mikesell.

In the presence of Almighty God, who knoweth all things, and who hath done so much for me, I, Thomas Mikesell, of Wauseon, Fulton county, State of Ohio, being of sound mind, and realizing the uncertainty of this present life, do make this my last Will and Testament:

1 All the property of which I shall be possessed at my decease, after just debts are paid, I give to my wife, Martha H. Mikesell, for her use as she may have need during her natural life. Whatever remains after her death and the payment of just debts, shall be given as follows:

2 A note for $1,000.00, given to the Steward of the Central Ohio Conference for the benefit of Conference Claimants, shall be paid.

3 Then, if no stone has been erected on our cemetery lot in the Wauseon, Ohio cemetery to mark our graves, there shall be used not more than $150.00 to erect one, properly marked.

4 Of what remains, I give 30 percent to the Board of Foreign Missions of the ~~Methodist~~ Episcopal Church;

5 To the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 30 percent;

6 To the Freedman's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 15 percent;

7 To the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 10 per cent;

8 To the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, 10 percent;

9 To the American Bible Society, 5 percent.

10 Let some man who believes in the institutions above stated, and who believes in and practices the religion of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, be appointed to act as executor.

11 To all whom it may concern: Be it known that ~~that~~ there is no relative of mine, or any other person, who has any right to interfere with the execution of this, my will, or claim all, or any part of the property which may be in my possession at my death, or left at the death of my wife, except as above stated.

In testimony whereof I hereunto set my name and seal this 15th day of January, A. D. 1913.

L. S. Thomas Mikesell.

The above instrument of one sheet (two leaves) was, at the date given below, declared to us by the testator, Thomas Mikesell, to be his last will and testament; and he then acknowledged to each of us that he had subscribed the same: and we, at his request, sign our names hereto as attesting witnesses.

Americans Down Under: Adventurers in Australian Goldfields of the 1850s

By Nick Vine Hall*

"Many Americans despaired and returned home.... Unaware of ancestral adventures 'down under,' modern descendants of these men often search the U.S. records fruitlessly in their efforts to fill inexplicable gaps created by the forebear's absence from North American soil."

The lure of Australian gold enticed thousands of American adventurers in the mid-1800s; published estimates of the number vary considerably.[1] The rush "down under" began in the wake of America's own gold rush—after an English-born miner, Edward Hargraves, noted marked similarities between the gold-laced terrain of California and lands he had previously seen in Bathurst, New South Wales. Returning to Australia to test his theory, he struck gold at Ophir, about 170 miles west of Sydney, in April 1851.[2] By early 1852, diggers from San Francisco were on the scene. Others followed from such American ports as Richmond and Boston; however, New York became the most-important departure point. Of the eighty-four vessels that had left the United States for Australia by March 1853, forty-eight were from the port of New York.[3]

Gold fever spread throughout the colony and adjacent Victoria, where another rich lode was discovered shortly thereafter. Fearing a repetition of the lawlessness that characterized the California rush, Australian officials attempted to discourage prospectors with a license fee of thirty shillings monthly (double for foreigners) for eight-foot plots.[4] However, fortune hunters were not so easily deterred—neither the native-born nor the American transplants. Not surprisingly, the latter clustered in certain areas—for example, Victoria's "Yankee Gully."[5] Even today, the little town of Creswick in that state sports a pub called the American Hotel.

Many Americans despaired and returned home—some within months, while others dug for a decade or two before the gold (or their patience) ran out. The main exodus occurred between 1856 and 1858. The reasons for disenchantment were principally four: (1) mines petered out amid news of other strikes in Peru, British Colombia, and New Zealand; (2) the outbreak of America's Civil War called home some wandering sons; (3) colonial Australia in the 1850s was reluctant to open land to small-scale settlers; and (4) the atmosphere of a British colony did not suit the

Americans Down Under:
Adventurers in Australian Goldfields of the 1850s

The lure of Australian gold enticed thousands of American adventurers in the mid-1800s; published estimates of the number vary considerably. The rush "down under" began in the wake of America's own gold frenzy—after an Englishman named Edward Hargraves, noted student of similarities between the gold-bearing terrain of California and Australia, had in fact previously been in Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, planning to return to his native Kentucky, he struck gold at Ophir, about 170 miles west of Sydney, in April 1851.[1] By early 1852, reports from San Francisco were on the scene. Others followed from such American ports as Rockwood and Boston; however, New York became the most important departure point. Of the eighty-four vessels that had left the United States for Australia by March 1852, forty-eight were from the port of New York.[2]

Gold fever spread throughout the colony and adjacent Victoria, where another rich lode was discovered shortly thereafter. Fearing a repetition of the lawlessness that characterized the California rush, Australian officials attempted to discourage prospectors with a licensee fee of thirty shillings monthly (payable for foreigners) for eight-foot plots.[3] However, fortune hunters were not so easily deterred—neither the native-born nor the American immigrants. Not surprisingly, the latter clustered in certain areas—for example, Victoria's "Yankee Gully."[4] Even today, the little town of Creswick in that state sports a pub called the American Hotel.

Many Americans deserted and returned home—some within months, while others dug for a decade or two before the gold (or their patience) ran out. The main exodus occurred between 1856 and 1858. The reasons for disenchantment were principally four: (1) mines petered out amid news of richer strikes in Peru, British Columbia, and New Zealand; (2) the outbreak of America's Civil War called home some wandering sons; (3) colonial Australia in the 1850s was reluctant to open land to small-scale settlers; and (4) the atmosphere of a British colony did not suit the average free republican.[6] Unaware of ancestral adventures "down under," modern descendants of these men often search the U.S. records fruitlessly in their efforts to fill inexplicable gaps created by the forebear's absence from North American soil.

Countless other miners from the Northern Hemisphere married and stayed, or otherwise romanced Australian women. Today, their offspring search for both American roots and American cousins.[7] Genealogists in both nations, who seek the "lost" branches of their families and search the proper places, will find rich lodes of records to document nineteenth-century pilgrims to Australia's goldfields.

At least twenty American states furnished miners to the colonies of Victoria and New South Wales: California, Connecticut, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Philadelphia, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, and Wisconsin. Particularly in the case of California, there is cause to presume that many immigrants listed that state merely as a last place of abode, rather than an actual birthplace. Some, indeed, were not of American birth at all—as for example, Samuel Walker McGowan, born in Canada in 1829, who studied law at the University of Toronto before migrating to the United States and on to Australia.[8]

Demographics

OCCUPATIONS

Males and miners dominated the American-Australian migration of the 1850s, but these two categories were anything but exclusive. A host of occupations appears among those who provided social and economic support to the miners—i.e., actors, bartenders, boardinghouse keepers, circus performers, consuls, doctors, lawyers, merchants, musicians, photographers, publicans, sailors, sealers, stagecoach proprietors, and whalers. Sea captains and sailors, who spent but a few days in port, occasionally left genealogical repercussions behind. Wives and children sometimes accompanied the wealthier merchants, and masters of the American vessels often had spouses along. (One bold adventurer brought another man's wife that he is said to have "borrowed.") Not surprisingly, the single women were sometimes occupied as "fancy ladies," although one maiden female (Mary Jane Bardwell) was more chastely identified as a music teacher of twenty-seven years.[9]

ETHNIC DIVERSITY

As a group, these American adventurers were predominantly, but not exclusively, white. According to a study of jazz in Australia: "Black Americans contributed their share to life on the diggings. Of the thirteen men tried for treason after the Eureka Stockade Rebellion at Ballarat in 1854, two were black, one from the USA and the other from Kingston, Jamaica. Where miners went, entertainers followed. American circuses and black minstrel shows toured the gold fields and cities."[10] The Melbourne

Argus of 26 January 1853, for example, advertised the coming appearance of Rainer's Original Ethiopian Serenaders, offering Negro melodies and burlesques that featured such performers as "Mr. Moran, alias Brudder Bones." The evening's entertainment was to conclude with a "Plantation Jig."[11] Petitions of that era also carry Chinese characters amid signatures of miners[12]—although it is unclear whether these literate Orientals were transplants from California or elsewhere.

POPULATION COUNTS

While the aggregate number of American immigrants of this period remains to be established, extant censuses suggest considerable fluctuation in the population. Five enumerations dating from the peak years of the rush, if accurate, suggest that no more than 4,000 Americans were present in the goldfields at any one time. However, name analyses indicate that many came and went between censuses and that departing immigrants were generally offset by new arrivals—thereby greatly multiplying the total. Gender data recorded on the enumerations of 1856 and 1857 reveal that 17 percent (n=135) of the Americans in New South Wales and 11.5 percent of those in Victoria (n=335) were female. Contemporary marriage registers of Victoria reflect much the same ratio of females in the immigrant population. Of the 723 Americans who married in that colony during the six years from 1855 to 1860 inclusive, 96 were women.[13]

REPRESENTATIVE SETTLERS

Americans made a significant impact upon the historical annals of Australia, siring at least one member of parliament and countless men who excelled in sundry fields of endeavor. Others, however, failed notably in their search for fortune and prestige. Among the gold seekers, one finds[14]

Thomas Welton Stanford, brother of Leland Stanford, who founded California's university of that name. Thomas introduced the kerosene lamp to Australia.

James Forester Sullivan, a Louisiana volunteer in the Mexican War, who later became a member of parliament in Victoria and Minister for Mines.

James Maguire, born 1806 in North Carolina, who moved to Randolph, Massachusetts, and served there as a state senator in 1846–47. Maguire, who died in 1876, was a shoe salesman in Australia.

William Claflin, also of Massachusetts, where he occupied the governorship during 1869–71. As an Australian, he imported shoes and boots.

Also typical, perhaps, of those who came and went were[15]

Freeman Cobb, who established the noted stagecoach company Cobb & Co. Selling out, he returned to the States and was elected to the Massachusetts senate in 1864. Born in 1830 at Brewster, Massachusetts, he died in South Africa in 1878.

George Francis Train, who came to Melbourne in 1853 and appears to have been a successful digger. Returning to America, he attended Lincoln's second inaugural ball (with his wife, whose hair was said to be "elaborately powdered with gold"). Train became a candidate for president of the United States in 1872.

— Captain John P. Mikesell, born in Virginia. He later removed to Quincy, Illinois, before leaving for the Australian goldfields. Returning to the U.S. in time to serve in the Civil War, Mikesell captained a Missouri infantry regiment and was captured at the Battle of Shiloh in 1862. His service record of that year describes him as "aged 29, blue eyes, light hair, light complexion, 5'8", merchant." A postwar mayor of Quincy, he married and left offspring there.

At least forty of America's Civil War veterans—Union and Confederate—are also known to have been buried "down under." Their resting places have been cataloged by the American Civil War Round Table of Australia,[16] and a study of their lives has been undertaken by that group.

Genealogical Resources

The most-comprehensive guide to genealogical research in the Commonwealth, Vine Hall's Tracing Your Family History in Australia, lists forty-one broad but basic record groups available to document family trees.[17] More than a dozen are particularly rich in material for Americans whose roots extend to the goldfields of Victoria and New South Wales—ranging from the conventional "vital records" to the more esoteric logbooks of whaling ships and reports of American consuls. An exhaustiive review of all pertinent resources is not within the scope of this paper. However, the suggestions that follow will introduce American researchers to the wealth of available resources. Since most of Australia's gold-rush activity of the 1850s occurred in New South Wales and Victoria (which was cut from New South Wales on 1 July 1851), this essay will concentrate on the documents of these two colonies.

DEar Roena Bayes:

Thanks for the additional Mikesell information. Those Mikesell names and the origin in Austria seem to connect up with the Mikesells that Ardella Rohde has cataloged.

Have you written to her yet?

I am still stuck with the John Mikesell who married Frances Rudolph. Maybe he had changed his name for political reaons and wasn't John Mikesell at all. That's as good an explanation as any I've heard so far.

Lot's of luck to you.

Sincerely

Grover Buxton

Funeral services for Lawrence K. Mikesell, 78, formerly of Silver Run, Md., who died Wednesday, Nov. 29, at the Perry Point VA Hospital, Perry Point, Md., were held Monday, Dec. 4 at Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown, with the Rev. James Hosey and Rev. Dwight Mikesell officiating. Interment was in St. Bartholomew Cemetery.

MACK-MIKESELL HOUSE

TWO distinct architectural styles are found in this old place, which stands along the Amsterdam road, within sight of Shank's mill. Not far away, across the creek and the railroad, is the entrance to Needy's Cave. On the north side of the lane, out in the fields, is an early private burying ground, containing the graves of the Royers, McKensies, Keagys, Stouffers, Macks and others.

The low part of the house seems to be the older, although there is a section of the stone wall, at one place, which extends into the high part. This low structure is of English design, similar to the Cape Cod houses. It resembles the kitchen built by John Wallace, and also the cottage of John Philip Reed, which is about half a mile to the north. There are four dormer windows. Handmade lathe, every strip of different size, support the old plaster. A clothes rail runs around the wall.

This cottage was built by Jacob Mack in Colonial times. Stories used to be told of Indian fights, round about: many arrowheads are still found in the fields.

The other part is typical of hundreds of stone houses in the Valley. It has three fireplaces. The roof is protected with slate, the rafters being pinned together. Between the house and the road is a rambling barn, bearing a stone dated 1825; it was probably built at the same time as the "new" section of the house.

The tremendous maple tree, of great beauty, is one of several on the place. Under its shade is a stone smokehouse. To the east is a rapidly flowing spring, feeding a pond so large that fish are caught in it. Scores of little springs bubble through the bottom. Nearly a dozen wild ducks made this their sanctuary, last year—and ate all the watercress. An iron ram pumps the spring water to the house and barn.

Nancy Mack, the great-grandmother of Mrs. D. L. (Phoebe Burger) Miller, was born here in 1774. She was married in the house, and lived to be 99 years old.

Aaron D. Hess owned the place for 33 years. In 1942 it was sold by him to John A. Mikesell, and is occupied by his sister Bessie, who is a registered nurse. She has a well kept herd of 20 goats. The Mikesells, with the aid of John Rockwell, who lived here as a boy, have skillfully modernized the house: the sketch was drawn before the outside was changed.

The American Legion has erected on the place a flagpole in memory of Lt. Wm. Ault, a veteran of the Spanish-American War and of World War I. The flag was given by the Legion in Baltimore.
